Keynote Speaker

Jesse Bradley is Co-Founder of Just Choose Hope & serves as the ministry's chief communicator, as well as lead author of the course materials for the initiative. He is also the lead pastor of Grace Community Church, a multigenerational and multicultural fellowship in the greater Seattle area.

Jesse is a speaker, author, evangelist, and former professional athlete. Jesse was an atheist who came to know Jesus through a religion class at Dartmouth College. As he was playing professional soccer overseas, his athletic career ended with a tragic illness.

Jesse was fighting for his life for one year, and it took ten years to fully recover, but God transformed his purpose and passion, bringing the hope of Jesus to the world.

Jesse graduated with a master's degree in theology from Dallas Theological seminary and he presently serves as Chaplain of the Seattle Sounders of Major League Soccer (MLS). He also serves in this role for the United States National Men's Under-20 soccer team, wherein he is a regular guest on NBC, CBS, ABC, FOX, and has shared his faith on programs like Good Morning America and the Tamron Hall Show.

Jesse has collaborated with Global Media Outreach for over 15 years, and through many Hope initiatives there have been over 1 million people who have decided to follow Jesus. All glory to God. His podcast is called The Bonfire, leading people into the presence, word, and hope of God. He desires to see families and local churches thriving as we abide with Jesus daily. Jesse encourages and empowers people to receive and give hope where they live, work, learn, and play. His new book is called The Power of The Second Thought and covers how God renews our minds with indestructible hope. Jesse and his wife, Laurie, have four children and a patient dog named Bella.
